Don't want ERS in my town

I live in the beautiful small town of Eagle.

I grew up in the valley and have been in Eagle for 10 years. I love the feel of Eagle.

I love to walk downtown and go to the shops, especially the Nearly Everything Store. They literally have nearly everything. I can buy clothes at Everyday Outfitters and get coffee at Yeti's.

In this economy and actually in any economy, I believe we do not need a mall being disguised as a project that would help our economy. We, the people of Eagle, have already decided we did not want this project by voting "no."

These large projects often bring in their own people to build them and do not necessarily hire that many locals.

Sure, those people who come to build the project may spend money and live in the community, but that is short-lived.

I would hate to see this big project sitting empty like so many other spaces in Eagle.

I usually do not voice my opinion to the public, but this project really irks me. Such a waste of dollars to keep having meetings and mulling over something that clearly the community does not want.

Just say "no" to ERS.
